THE PROSPECT WELL.

Indications of Nearing the Ledge.

Yesterday the well borers passed through eight feet of rock which was a mixture of slate and quartz. The quartz came out of the tube in very small quantities as compared with the slate. It was struck at a depth of 170 feet. An assay was made of the rock but it showed no mineral. After eight feet of boring the drill passed into tough yellow clay, which was very hard to make headway in, and progress was very slow. The rock passed through was the same as encountered in the first well before reaching the ledge. A large number of visitors were about the well yesterday impatient to know the result. The borers do not expect to reach the ledge under 48 hours at least.

PACIFIC COAST ITEMS.

—The Central Pacific Railroad Company is discontinuing the use of coal on the Sacramento division and is coming back to the use of wood.

—A young blacksmith named Hill was shot and killed at Peach Springs, A. T., on Thursday by a disreputable woman named Kate Blonger.

—Small-pox has entirely disappeared from Sierra City. There were altogether thirty-three cases and one death during the prevalence of the disease.

—Another smash, resulting in the wreck of four freight cars but without injury to any person, occurred near the Utah and Nevada boundary Tuesday night.

—A series of resolutions protesting against the Fisheries Treaty, because of its silence on rights in Behring Sea, are to be introduced into the British Columbia Legislature at an early day.

—The large tract of foothill fruit land situated five miles south of Nevada City and recently purchased by Traver and others of Chicago, is now being placed on the market at that city. It is to be sold in 10 and 20-acre lots.

—Clara Foltz, the lady lawyer, political orator and ex-edress, has filed an affidavit with the San Diego County Clerk, stating that she is entitled to vote, and requests that her name be placed on the Great Register. It is understood she will make a test case of it at the Fall elections.

The Presbyterian Academy.

EDITOR APPEAL: For the sake of clearness it may be well to repeat the following statement.

It is the purpose of the Synodical Committee, if the way is clear, to establish at once in Carson City an Academy of high grade with the expectation of its development into a college.

The land, if the plan adopted succeeds, is to be given by the members and adherents of the Carson Presbyterian church. For this purpose a subscription is in circulation with more than one half pledged.

It is necessary that the citizens of Carson—including the Presbyterian church—shall provide the building and furniture. Though neither the Synod nor the Board of Aid will officially contribute to the property, individual gifts may be solicited anywhere in the United States.

The teachers will be elected under the supervision of the Synod by a local Board of Directors duly incorporated. They will be supported by the usual tuition fees.

As it is seldom that a new institution is self-supporting, the Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies will supplement the salaries of the teachers in the early years until the academy reaches self-support through its own patronage.

Yours respectfully,

J. L. WOOLS,
Chairman.

THE MINING OUTLOOK.

John Mackay's Confidence in the Comstock.

The Daily Report publishes the following interview with Mackay: "And now, in regard to the decline in Consolidated California and Virginia shares," said the D. R. representative, "it is freely asserted in the San Francisco Board that for weeks past James L. Flood has been a persistent and at times heavy seller of the stock through Nat Meser and other brokers. Why should these sales be made if the mine is looking as well as the Superintendent and yourself have so consistently represented?"

"I don't think Mr. Flood has sold as much of the stock as people have been led to believe. He may have sold a certain quantity. This is a free country, you know. But I can tell you this, that I hold my stock as a good investment, and in all the Comstock mines the only shares I have are in Consolidated California and Ophir. I say this without disparaging the merits of the other Comstock mines, and there are now more of them showing ore in large quantities than for the ten years past. Yellow Jacket looks well, and they have got a splendid showing in Confidence. Chollar and Potosi will yield ore for years to come. Hale & Norcross has a large body of good ore. Savage is showing good ore on several levels. As for Consolidated California and Virginia, there is more good ore in sight there today than there was one year ago, and the big bullion shipments and dividends will continue right along. Oh, it is a grand old mine! There we have from 600 to 700 feet between the syenite and the East wall, and the more we open the ground the more ore we get."

"In Ophir," continued Mr. Mackay, "we have great possibilities. Fifty feet North of the California line, in the upraise above the 1465-foot level, we have a new, separate and distinct body of ore, and we are now only beginning to find out what it amounts to. It will probably take several months before we get a definite idea of it. As opened up to this time, it shows a width of over 40 feet of solid ore. There are some portions of it low grade and others high grade, but it will all average $20 a ton. We have not yet got to the East wall, but when we do we shall go North into the new chimney of ore and open it out in all directions. While this work is being done Ophir is likely to be a very active stock. The shares are chiefly in good hands. Yes! Ophir has a splendid chance."

"Why does the market droop under such a showing of ore?" asked the D. R. representative.

"My opinion of it is this," said Mr. Mackay. "We have a different class of stock dealers here from what we had several years ago. People have smaller ideas. They sell out whenever there is a profit of fifty cents per share in sight. The result is that all the good mines have gone into the hands of people of means, who know the mines the best, and who are content to hold them regardless of the market. I sometimes wish that there was no market. There is not an hour in the day but that I am bothered by inquiries from people who are caught by stock fluctuations. I should have been a much richer man than I ever was if I had owned the Consolidated California and Virginia and other mines outright, and kept them for general results, regardless of the market."
